

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A designation information list 21 containing designation information is provided in a process designation apparatus 20, and a control mode table 31 which defines the actuation of the process designation apparatus, an information reader 33 which reads the designation information from the process designation apparatus 20, and a process controller 34 which acquires a prescribed control mode from the control mode table 31 to perform a prescribed process control are provided in a process control apparatus 30 so that the process designation apparatus 20 only represents the designation information and the process control apparatus 30 reads this designation information to perform the process control through the prescribed control mode.